The Bag in Box Project

ALLBLACK is a project of Envero Wine Company that was born with the knowledge acquired from years making wine, tasting and selecting the best grapes, working side by side with the best wineries, until we find what fascinate us and leave us completely ecstatic: a great wine.

Within ALLBLACK, we decided to start working on "The Bag in Box Project". A large number of topics, legends and myths around wine, are not only wrong, but also do not help to bring wine consumption closer to old or new generations. Concepts such as the type of packaging are related to wines that are not of enough quality, especially in countries with more winemaking tradition. And we know that, it is not that way. Bag in box is a container that allows us to enjoy and keep our wines in perfect conditions, and why shouldn't we be able to put a great wine inside it?

This is the first wine of this project that is born from very old Tempranillo vineyards, from one the most potential areas in Spain, the region of "Toro". But this wine has had to go on the market as "Vino de la Tierra de Castilla", as DO Toro does not allow this type of packaging. Make sense?
